Hello everybody: I recently been practising and experimenting with optical morse code, and optical wireless audio communications!

On the very late evening on the 08th of September 2026: I rigged up my red LED torch on a tripod out on my front along side the morse switch.

I was flashing “hello I am Peter” in morse to anybody in my home town of Dartmouth just to see I will get a response, in which I did not.

Photos showing the red LED torch on tripod, and the wooden morse code switch.
